Student Classroom and Course-Related Behavior
(Adapted from University of Colorado at Boulder, University of Arizona, University of California, Davis and California State University, Fresno)

Introduction
The classroom is a special environment in which students and faculty come together to promote learning and growth. It is essential to this learning environment that respect for the rights of others seeking to learn, respect for the professionalism of the instructor, and the general goals of academic freedom are maintained. All members of the academic community should demonstrate respect for the classroom environment. Differences of viewpoint or concerns should be expressed in terms which are supportive of the learning process, creating an environment in which students and faculty may learn to reason with clarity and compassion, to share of themselves without losing their identities, and to develop an understanding of the community in which they live.

Faculty members and teaching staff have the authority and responsibility to effectively manage their classroom environments. Instructors define the time and manner for student questions and expression of points of view in the instructional setting. Instructors have the professional responsibility to treat students with understanding, dignity and respect, to guide classroom discussion and to set reasonable limits on the manner in which students express opinions. Student conduct which disrupts the learning process shall not be tolerated and may lead to disciplinary action and/or removal from class.

Policy
Students are required to adhere to the behavior standards articulated in the University of California Policies Applying to Campus Activities, Organizations, and Students, 100.00 Policy on Student Conduct and Discipline, and to refrain from disrupting classes and other academic settings. The full text of this policy is available through the Student Conduct & Academic Integrity Programs website at http://conduct.ucr.edu.

Definitions
“Classroom and Course-Related Behavior” means all student conduct associated with the course including but not limited to the classroom, laboratory, examinations, office hours, and electronic communications.

"Disruptive behavior" means conduct that materially and substantially interferes with or obstructs the teaching or learning process in the context of a classroom or educational setting. Disruptive behavior includes conduct that distracts or intimidates others in a manner that interferes with instructional activities, fails to adhere to an instructor's policies regarding course conduct, or interferes with the normal operations of the University. Disruption may include:

- Persistent speaking without permission
- Side conversations
- Engaging in activities not related to the class
- Ringing cell phones or using a cell phone to talk or send text messages
- Using electronic devices in the classroom for non-course related purposes
- Sleeping in class
- Eating/drinking in class without permission
- Monopolizing class discussion and refusing to defer to the instructor, or listen to others; persisting when the instructor has indicated that the student's remarks are off topic and it is time to move on.
- Chronically entering late/leaving early, moving about the classroom
- Filming, photographing, or taping the class without the instructor's prior permission
- Physically or verbally abusive conduct
- Failure to adhere to the instructor's rules or instructions
- Vulgar or obscene language, slurs or other forms of intimidating behavior
• Showing up to class under the influence of alcohol/drugs
• Threats of any kind
• Destruction of property
• Inappropriate activity that provides access to or compromises electronic resources belonging to individuals or a community related to the course
• Any behavior that puts the health or safety of the instructor or other students in the classroom in jeopardy

Procedures

A. Instructional Rules and Decorum
   General Policies regarding classroom and course-related behavior will be communicated to students at University and College Orientations. Instructors may reiterate, clarify or augment the general expectations outlined in this policy through the course syllabus or classroom discussion. Such rules may contain reasonable restrictions in light of the instructional setting, teaching method and learning objectives; and may vary depending upon the educational context.

B. Procedure for Addressing Disruptions
   If an emergency situation exists and a student presents an imminent threat instructors should immediately request assistance from the UC Riverside Police by calling 911 or (951) 827-5222 and follow up with a Formal Incident Report (Step 3).

   In non-emergency situations instructors are encouraged to use assertive communication and progressive techniques (see below) in requesting cooperation of the disruptive student. As a last resort, students who engage in disruptive behavior may be directed by the instructor to leave the class for the remainder of the class period. If the student refuses to leave after being requested to do so, the instructor may request assistance from the University Police by calling (951) 827-5222.

Informal Resolution
In cases where the disruptive behavior is minor or moderate the Instructor may respond with informal resolution. Consultation and assistance in communicating with the student is available through the AVC/Dean of Students or Student Conduct and Academic Integrity Programs

Clarify Expectations

INSTRUCTOR
• If an instructor believes inappropriate behavior is occurring, start by cautioning the whole class rather than warning a particular student.
• If it becomes necessary to speak to an individual student about disruptive behavior, do so after class in a discreet manner. If the situation requires an immediate response in class, calmly and courteously ask the student to stop the conduct and to talk to you after class or during office hours.
• In communicating with the student after the first incident of disruptive behavior the instructor should:
  o identify the inappropriate behavior
  o review the classroom rules and this policy
  o instruct the student on the behavior that is expected/required in the future
• Instructors are encouraged to follow up consultations with students regarding inappropriate behavior with an email or memorandum summarizing the discussion. Instructors are further encouraged to share a copy of the communication with the department chair, associate dean for student affairs, and Student Conduct and Academic Integrity Programs.
STUDENT
If a student has a concern about the faculty member’s assessment of his/her behavior, classroom rules, or instructor’s expectations s/he is encouraged to consult with the chair of the faculty member’s department to review the behavior of concern and the faculty member’s response and mediate or intervene where necessary. The student’s Student Academic Affairs Office or Undergraduate Program Office is available as a resource for identifying department chairs and other assistance. The University Ombudsperson may be a helpful resource as well.

In cases where students fail to respond to clarification of expectations or for behavior deemed by the Instructor as serious or egregious, formal resolution is appropriate.

Formal Incident Report to Student Conduct & Academic Integrity Programs

INSTRUCTOR
If the disruptive behavior is serious or continues after a written warning, the instructor must:

a) Contact Student Conduct and Academic Integrity Programs for consultation and assistance in communicating with the student.

b) Document the disruptive behavior by submitting a formal incident report to the Student Conduct & Academic Integrity Programs office. The report should be forwarded with any documentation related to prior incidents and the names of any witnesses. In addition to material describing the disruptive behavior, the report should include the following information.

1. Grade in the Course. In the event that a student is excluded from the class following the review by Student Conduct & Academic Integrity Programs, the faculty member will assign a grade in the course in accordance with the guidelines for grading articulated in the course syllabus. The faculty member may assign a grade of “W” without an exception to policies governing Withdrawal from Classes. In order to assign a grade penalty for disruptive behavior, it must directly impact an assessment criterion identified in the syllabus. For example, exclusion from a lecture can only affect the grade if classroom attendance and/or participation is listed in the syllabus as a component in the grade determination.

2. Identify conditions or restrictions to be imposed pending expedited Administrative Review of the complaint. These conditions may include, but not be limited to:
   - Assigned seating in class
   - Restrictions on class behaviors
   - Restricted interaction with specific person(s) – instructors or students in course
   - Exclusion from the instructor’s class or academic area, pending expedited review by Student Conduct and Academic Integrity Programs
   - Academic sanction, if course participation is a component of the final grade and is indicated in the syllabus
   - Other conditions and restrictions as defined by the instructor

c) Assist the student in keeping up with the course and insure that there is no penalty associated with missed work during the expedited Administrative Review.

d) The Department Chair and Associate Dean for student affairs in the faculty member’s college in cases involving undergraduates or the Associate Dean of the Graduate Division in cases involving graduate students must also be notified and copied on all communications.
STUDENT
The Student Conduct & Academic Integrity Programs will contact the student by e-mail within one business day of receiving the incident report. The student will receive a copy of the report and information on the procedure for resolving the issue. Upon notification by Student Conduct & Academic Integrity Programs, the student is required to

a) Immediately contact Student Conduct & Academic Integrity Programs to schedule a meeting and assist in completing an expedited Administrative Review.

b) Follow the instructor’s instructions, which may prescribe behavior and/or restrict a student from attending class until the complaint is resolved.

c) Continue to keep up with and complete any out of the classroom assigned readings and work listed on the syllabus.

d) Failure to comply may result in an additional violation of Section 102.16: Failure to Comply with the Directions of a University Official.

Resolution
Student Conduct & Academic Integrity Programs will follow up with an expedited review of the complaint and whenever possible will complete the initial review within two class meetings of receipt of the complaint. The instructor and student will be informed of the status of the disciplinary proceedings, especially regarding the student's attendance at future class sessions. Depending on the outcome of the review, one of the following actions will occur.

a) If Student Conduct & Academic Integrity Programs finds a student RESPONSIBLE for misconduct, Student Conduct & Academic Integrity Programs may assign the full range of sanctions articulated in the University Of California Policies Applying to Campus Activities, Organizations, and Students, 105.00 Types of Student Disciplinary Action. This information is accessible through the Student Conduct & Academic Integrity Programs website at http://conduct.ucr.edu.

Removal from the Course. Student Conduct & Academic Integrity Programs may on the recommendation of the instructor and the department chair involuntarily remove the student from the course for the remainder of the quarter or impose conditions for continued participation in the course to include but not limited to those imposed pending the expedited review. Removal of a student from class, either voluntarily or involuntarily, is a serious step. Student Conduct & Academic Integrity Programs will initiate the withdrawal through the Associate Dean of the faculty member's college or for graduate students to the Associate Dean of the Graduate Division and the Registrar's office.

b) In the event that Student Conduct & Academic Integrity Programs finds the student NOT RESPONSIBLE for the alleged violation of University policies and expectations, Student Conduct & Academic Integrity Programs will consult with the Department Chair, Associate Dean of the College or Graduate Division and the faculty member to identify a reasonable resolution to the situation.

If the student or instructor is not satisfied with the resolution, he/she may submit a written appeal to the Associate Dean of Student Affairs in the faculty member’s college or the Associate Dean of the Graduate Division. The Associate Dean’s decision is final. If a final grade is issued in the course and the student is not satisfied with the grade, he/she can pursue the standard procedure for grade appeal.
Resources

The Assistant Vice Chancellor & Dean of Students and Student Conduct & Academic Integrity Programs (SCAIP) are available as a resource for any member of the community with questions about what constitutes disruption, who may need guidance in responding to disruption or assistance with activities in follow up to disruption.

AVC/Dean of Students
Office Location: Highlander Union Building 381
Telephone: (951) 827-6095
Email: deanofstudents@ucr.edu

Student Conduct & Academic Integrity Programs
Office location: Costa 104
Telephone: (951) 827-4208
Email: conduct@ucr.edu

Some disruptive students may have physical or psychological disabilities. Although such students may be considered disabled and are protected under the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), they are expected to abide by the same standards of conduct that apply to all students. Students with disabilities are required to provide documentation of the disability with the UCR Services for Student with Disabilities (SSD) office prior to receiving appropriate accommodations. SSD is available as a resource for any member of the community with questions about students with disabilities.

Office Location: Costa 125
Telephone: (951) 827-4538 (V/TTY)
Website: http://specialservices.ucr.edu/disabilities/index.html

Assistance in intervention with distressed or distressing students is also available through the Student Affairs Case Manager, a clinical social worker, housed in the office of the Assistant Vice Chancellor and Dean of Students. The Student Affairs Case Manager provides support to the university community through addressing the needs of students who are facing significant emotional or personal challenges or who are disruptive or potentially harmful to themselves or others.
